do ordain and establish this constitution."—Constitution of 1876.

Yet the Legislature prohibits the sending of the Illida—the revealed will of God—in the common schools, as though his reading would demonstrate the children who heard it. How, I would sake can God be expected to bless a people who feethel His word to be read to the children in the public schools. There is no accurations in reading the Illida should in the public achools, for there is no drop of the gall and wormwood of accurationism in the actipators; and I for one, say the Illida should be read about daily in the public schools for the mutri instruction of the people. God commanded the fewn to what Illa commandments on the minds and monocois of cheir children, and Christians we under a similar obligation in 1883. If it he improper to read the Illida is the public schools for the moral instruction of the young, it should not be read in the Sunday schools and in the chipsels.

I am aware the Catholics object to the reading of the scriptores by laymen, in or out of the school room, in the lamity or cleechers, yet that is no reason why the views of the Protestant series should be treated with contempt by the Legislature.
